Highway Traffic On The Increase

A census of traffic over No. 8 Highway was taken over the holiday weekend by the Department of Highways and the compilation shows that despite tire shortages the increase in traffic since the lifting of the gasoline rationing has greatly increased.

The census was taken on a 24 hour basis, but the heaviest period on each of the three days was between the hours of two o'clock in the afternoon until 10 o'clock in the evening.

The figures show that during that period on Saturday 2400 vehicles of all kinds passed the Grimsby Beach corner; there were 2560 on Sunday and on Monday 3593.

Facts and Fancies

IT'S BEEN GOING ON FOR YEARS

Quite a lot of excitement has been created the past two weeks by The Independent's attack on the minority fruit growers throughout the district who persist in packing immature and even decaying fruit and putting it on the market for public consumption.

I have had condemnation for writing these editorials, but I have also received a lot of pats on the back both from the good and honest fruit growers and the general public. As a matter of fact for every kick in the pants that I received I got in return 100 pats.

Not one grower that took me to task had any real argument to support the packing of this sort of rubbish. One grower even went so far as to try and argue that the question should never be brought up right in the middle of the peach season but should be kept quiet until midwinter and then discussed. I told him that nobody was picking and shipping peaches, nor were the public buying them, when the ground was covered with snow. Now is the time that the rubbish is being packed and the public is being gulled, so therefore let us turn the light of publicity on it.

This packing and shipping of poor and immature fruit has been going on for years, but has grown to far too great proportions during the past few years. Forty or more years ago the then editor of this paper, the late Jas. A. Livingston, was writing articles on this self same subject. It is only three years ago that R. J. Deachman, the well known Ottawa newspaperman penned the following story which appeared in The Independent of September 10, 1942:

Good peaches are grown in Canada. We doubted it for some time, now we know — our doubts have been dissipated, we have seen with our own eyes.

It happened this way. When the season arrived at which peaches might readily be bought we purchased a basket. Through the red gauze they looked rich and ripe, made one think of peaches and cream and peach pie. Behind the mask they were not what they should have been. They were green, they would not ripen. They turned brown, rotted without ripening. We tried to stew — is that the right word? — the fragments that remained. Even then they shrunk, they shrivelled — no one could eat them. We were sore. We swore. We would buy no more.

Alas for one who in the past had eaten good peaches that pledge was difficult to keep — a pledge to oneself is easily broken — and anyway what's the difference. We tried again. On top they looked hopeful, lower down too green for use — the effort failed.

There was a grocer in town with a reputation. He charged more — that gave him the reputation. He was bold and honest. He ripped away the red gauze of deceit. Right before his eyes we lifted the two top layers — they were good — I mean not bad. Below they were green. But the camouflage was good. If our corvettes could use camouflage as skillfully as our peaches growers they would be on top of the enemy before he could say "Jack Robinson" or whatever a German sub-commander says when he hears the death rattle of a depth charge.

Now we know there are good peaches. We have a friend who lives in the Niagara Peninsula. One day he walked in with a package under his arm. We regarded it anxiously. It was a box 16½ inches by 9½ inches and 3 inches deep. The top of the box was beautifully printed. The wording had a lovely sound when uttered slowly:

TREE RIPENED PEACHES
PACKED FOR THOSE WHO APPRECIATE
GOOD QUALITY

We opened the box like a bride unwrapping the gift of her richest uncle.

There they were — fifteen of them each snuggled down in a little compartment of its own. Not a touch of camouflage in the lot — soft paper on the bottom to keep them from being bruised. The perfect complexion needs no boost from the arts of the beautician. They were lovely with the natural color of real peaches. We cannot tell you what they are worth — there are some things beyond price. Their soft faces glowed up at us as we stood looking at them as something once lost but now regained.

We measured one — it was 9 inches in circumference and 9½" the other way, measuring over the stem end. We husbanded them as a miser does gold. We cannot tell you how they tasted — there are times when the greatest things on earth must be forever the unexpressed. We wondered when we finished them if, in time, the peach growers would throw away the red flag which — to put it kindly — misrepresents so many baskets of peaches sold — and give us again a product such as, in days of old, we knew so well and loved so much.

To the honor of the town of Grimsby, from which these better peaches came, we dip our flag in token of profound regard.

Mr. Deachman shows you in that article that there are good peaches grown in this district and that they can be properly packed for the market.

That the general public are pretty well fed up with the poor grade of stuff that is being offered to them, is once again evidenced by the following letter which appeared in The Toronto Star on Tuesday night of this week:

SELL UNRIPE FRUIT

To the Editor of The Star:

Sir: I wish to protest against the huge waste caused by the large quantities of premature peaches thrust upon the market every year. I purchased a basket, No. 1 peaches, followed instructions of caring for them, issued by fruit-growers and the result was that after three days six were fit to eat. The rest are still unfit to eat and have large areas of decay on them. Someone should look into this matter, as it is a yearly occurrence. We get our supply normally from a fruit district, tree-ripened. They come by express in perfect condition, are fit to eat or preserve and taste like peaches. Also every year we hear of the small apple crop. Consequently high prices prevail in so much that many people do not bother with them, prefer to buy citrus fruits. But later in the season we see abundance of dried apples, and this year every store is flooded with apple juice, showing there wasn't a scarcity, after all. Why cannot a reasonable price be put on fruit so that we can all have a fair share while it is fresh, thus enabling us to feed our families properly.

HOUSEWIFE

Also in the same issue appeared the following editorial, which speaks for itself:

MANY NO. 1 PEACHES AREN'T

When a consumer pays the ceiling price for a basket of No. 1 peaches, he expects No. 1 fruit. In Toronto this year he has frequently been disappointed.

Peaches which are of good size, and appear through the red netting to be of good quality as well, turn out, when the covering is removed, to have been shipped very green indeed. Some of them are still entirely green. Others are ripe on one side and hard on the other. Worse still, not a few of them are wormy, with the wormhole plainly visible as evidence that a little care would have excluded them from the basket.

Shippers of that sort of "No. 1" fruit are not adding to the reputation of Ontario peaches. They are aided in their deception by the netting. Query: Is the use of highly colored netting justified?

An ounce of loyalty is worth a ton of submission.

Beamsville Boy At Jap Surrender

A high honor came to the Grimsby-Beamsville-Vineland district this week, when Surgeon-Lieut. George Gayman, son of Mrs. Rose Gayman of Vineland, was the senior ranking medical officer present at the signing of the Peace Treaties aboard the U.S. Battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay.

Surgeon-Lieut. Gayman is the

M. O. aboard the Royal Canadian Naval destroyer Wager, which ship was the escort destroyer for Admiral Fraser's flagship the Duke of York.

Previous to the Japanese surrender the Wager escorted the Duke of York to Guam for the conference between Admiral Fraser and Admiral Nimitz.

Mrs. Gayman is at present residing at Ridgville. The young Medical Officer is a graduate of Beamsville High and Vocational school and is a nephew of George and Mrs. Shepherd of Beamsville.

Only One Plate

In announcing that Ontario motor car license plates for 1946 would display white figures on a black background, J. P. Bickell, registrar for motor vehicles for Ontario, disclosed that, due to continued shortage of metal, only one plate will be issued for next year and it will be 1947 at least before motorists again display a plate on both front and rear of their vehicles.

The building is now occupied on the ground floor by the Hydro Electric Power Commission and Joe's Restaurant. The upstairs is divided into apartments. No One To Blame But The Pupils

Examination Papers Have Not Been Passed Upon Because Regulations Have Not Been Complied With.

There has been considerable confusion during the past two weeks among the pupils of Grimsby High school over the delay in publishing the upper school examination results.

Considerable criticism of the Board of Education and Principal P. V. Smith has been heard.

The fact of the matter is that there is no person to blame except the pupils themselves or their parents, due to the fact that the pupils did not and have not returned their certificates, completed, that showed that they had complied with the regulations by working at agriculture for 13 weeks.

Some six to seven hundred residents of Beamsville, Grimsby, Smithville and many visiting the district over Labour Day paid a visit to the West Lincoln Memorial Hospital on Monday for a look as to what it will be like when completed.

Many expressions of admiration were heard regarding the painting and decorating job, all of which is highly complimentary to the ladies' committee who have spent endless work in an effort to make this Hospital something outstanding. It is expected that all painting

Taxes Were Easy In Good Old Days

Farm Now Owned By Councilor Wm. Mitchell Only Paid $5.96 In 1887 — $125 In 1939.

One hears a lot these days about taxes of every kind, whether they be municipal taxes or governmental charges. In fact taxes of all kinds are a pet aversion of all people.

No doubt in the olden days when income and other forms of federal and provincial taxes were unknown and municipal taxes were infinitesimal compared to today, the tax-payer was still grouching.

Grew Sugar Cane In This District

Sixty Years Ago C. W. Wellington Raised Enough To Produce 350 Gallons Of Excellent Syrup.

In these days of sugar shortages it is rather refreshing to know that at one time sugar cane was grown in Grimsby. While that fact will not relieve the present shortage any, still it shows what can and could be done to overcome the situation to some extent if our people were willing to go to and do it.

From the files of the Hamilton Spectator of Friday, August 28, 1885—60 years ago, we clip the following interesting item:

If there were a few more men in Canada like Mr. C. W. Wellington, of Grimsby, the country would not be dependent upon some other country for its sugar. Mr. Wellington is an enthusiast in the matter of the cultivation of sugar cane in Canada, and he is not merely a theoretical enthusiast. He is not content with telling the people what can be done; he goes to work and does it, and proves the correctness of his ideas by actual, practical demonstration. The season has not been favourable to the growth of sugar cane, the spring being rather late; but the crop produced is, under the circumstances, quite satisfactory. Mr. Wellington has an acre of cane on the English Church farm at Grimsby, from which he expects to get three hundred gallons of syrup. In an ordinary season the yield of syrup would have been four hundred and fifty gallons.

A New Pulpit For Old St. Andrew's

Presented By Family In Memory Of Late Leslie M. Nelles — A Beautiful Piece Of Hand Carving.

An oak pulpit and choir screen was installed last week in St. Andrew's Church and will be dedicated on Sunday evening, September 23rd by the Rt. Rev'd L. W. B. Broughall, Bishop of Niagara in memory of the late Mr. Leslie M. Nelles.

It is the gift of his family. In each of the five panels of the pulpit is decorated work-centred around the carved heads of Christ and the four Evangelists. This work was hand-done by an artist who is in his eighties, Mr. Miller of the Church Art Firm in Dundas. The Choir Screen is of similar workmanship and includes a lectern base of plain oak.

The former pulpit which had been in the Church for forty years was occupied for the last time a week ago Sunday by the special

FACTS & FANCIES

WINSTON CHURCHILL

(Marion Susan Campbell, in Christian Science Monitor.)

I am searching for words
With which to honor Churchill.
Stout words, gallant words, iron words,
Such as he spoke
To the people of Britain
In their hours of jeopardy—
"We shall fight on the beaches,
We shall fight on the landing grounds,
We shall fight in the fields
And in the streets,
We shall fight in the hills;
We shall never surrender!"—
Easy sentences to read,
But Churchill said them
With only a strip of sea.
Between England and an enemy,
Weaponed as no army on earth
Had been weaponed before.

I am looking for words
As steady and courageous
As that stand he demanded of his people,
While the whole world held its breath:
"Let us so bear ourselves
That if the British Empire
And its Commonwealth
Last for a thousand years,
Men will still say
This was their finest hour."
Bold words, Churchill,
When the men of England
Were walking her cliffs
Naked of arms.
But because you said them then,
If the world lasts a thousand years,
Men will still say:
"That was a man!"

TIME MARCHES BACK?

Signs are that along about October the ersatz war clock will sound its alarm at having its hands deliberately set back an hour. But the hall clock probably will tock back in reassuring grandfatherly fashion: "Oh, that's just an old prewar custom. It used to happen to us every fall."

Daylight saving time never was universally popular even when in operation just for the summer. And the war time which has prevailed the year around since February, 1942, has been barely endured for the sake of the war effort.

Cows are reported to have moored their protest at being put on the swing shift. Mothers in many sections have had difficulty getting their children up and off to school in the dark and to bed in daylight.

Early winter morning workers seldom were moved to poetic outbursts by the accompanying moonlight. Farmers have challenged the clock tinkers to provide a way of "evaporating the morning dew an hour earlier."

BEWARE! DANGER!

How to get out of the bathtub without breaking your neck?

Have a rubber mat on the bottom of the tub, which will cling to the floor of the bathtub.

When you are ready to emerge, roll over on your face first, put your weight on your hands and then pull your knees up under your tummy.

Then rise to a sitting position putting a hand on each side of the tub and hoist yourself up on your feet. Then step gently out of the tub and be sure you don't land on a cake of soap. Also be sure—if your bathroom has a tile or linoleum floor—that your wet feet gets a firm grip and that you remain in perfect balance. Then cautiously bring the other foot out—and don't grab any electric light bulbs or switches or sockets.

Beware of any loose rugs. If they are dry they slide. If you have loose rugs on the bathroom floor it's wise to raise one end and sprinkle a few drops of water underneath. This will give the rug a grip.

Ye Editor can stand on one foot and pick the corner of the rug up with his toes while doing this little trick, thus saving his aged and creaking back unnecessary labor. Also proving we are prehensile and an exemplification of the Darwin theory.

By following these simple instructions you may avoid having your name listed among the 8,723 who were killed in bathrooms in the United States and Canada last year. (Standard statistics).

MONKEY ISLAND OF SOCIALISM

I have been reading a little booklet entitled "Monkey Sense," by A. T. McFarlane. It is described as "a picture story with a moral for grown-up people," and the story is written in rather clever doggerel rhyme. It begins:

"There was once a monkey island
Where the monkeys lived in ease,
For they used to feed their tummies
With the nuts from off the trees."

These monkeys, of course, represent human beings, and the plenty and "ease" in which they lived is supposed to represent the state of human society before the "Capitalist" arose and spoiled this little garden of Eden by putting the "monkeys" to work collecting "coconuts," from which he got a substantial rake-off. From this very simple beginning, according to Mr. McFarlane, all the ills of modern society have resulted.

The analogy might hold good if men were monkeys, or if they really lived originally in a state of ease and plenty and did not have to work for a living. It is quite true that there are human beings in Central Africa who have no need to work for a living. For one thing they do not wear clothes or live in houses, and their food consists almost entirely of bananas which drop into their hands from the trees.

That is apparently the kind of society which Mr. McFarlane admires and would have us return to or adopt. As a matter of fact, Mr. McFarlane's story at the outset is a distinct compliment to the "Capitalist" monkey, whose "cunning, scheming" enabled the monkeys to gather the coconuts without climbing the trees. But Mr. McFarlane should have carried his analogy further and shown how the capitalist established industries for the manufacture of various commodities from "coconuts" and other raw materials on the island. How the standard of living of the monkey was raised, and how this monkey-land became the centre of world trade and a world-wide Empire.

I should have stated that this story was written in England, and it is said to have been broadcast over the B.B.C. radio network for the edification of the British public in the principles of Socialism. I can readily believe that many simple-minded people would be influenced by this type of propaganda. It presents Socialism in its simplest form, as "monkey sense." Like other allegorical arguments against capitalism, this one is based in the first place on a fallacy, for early Britain can in no way be compared to a monkey island, much less its inhabitants to monkeys living in ease and plenty. An elementary knowledge of British history is enough to dispose of such nonsense.

Mr. McFarlane's reference to the capitalist as a "cunning, scheming monkey-lazy!" is surely a contradiction in words. By his own showing, it was the other monkeys who were lazy—too lazy to think and scheme for their own social betterment. But the whole story is based upon false premises—upon an over-simplification of our social and economic problems. If we start out with the idea that we were originally monkeys living solely on coconuts—or even if we assume, as another socialist story does, that we were Arabs in a desert, living on water—we can very easily build up a case against the capitalist for disturbing our primeval ease and security.

But it is not so simple as all that, as Mr. McFarlane must know right well. It is no compliment to the intelligence of the "common people" of Britain to assume that they can be deluded by such monkey literature. The logical conclusion of Mr. McFarlane's story is that industrial progress is an evil development instigated by selfish capitalists, who, like the serpent, lured man from the happy Coconut Garden of Socialism.

THE HARMONIOUS TOWN

It used to be said in former days that the progress of many towns was impeded by the division of those communities into factions. If one element of people wanted to push a certain movement, some different faction might oppose the plan because they did not start and father it. Between the pulling and hauling and contending of factions, progressive movements were impeded, and progress in such a town was apt to be slow.

In a progressive community today that spirit of faction is scarcely noticeable. It is considered that such feelings hamper progress and interfere with the unity which is necessary to accomplish community gains. If anyone suggests a good and practical idea, there is a disposition to back it up, without regard to who or what element started it.

A SOCIALIST'S DICTIONARY

Toronto "Saturday Night" has produced its "Own Dictionary for Socialists," as compiled by C. Monte Roberts, who states that it is "A somewhat abridged collection of words and phrases as they might be defined by our C. C. F. friends. . . if they were in the habit of making accurate definitions."

Democracy: Reactionary idea planted in the minds of innocent people by insidious Capitalist propaganda.

Uninformed: State of not accepting every socialist statement as the irrefutable truth.

Informed: True Believers are. Those who think for themselves aren't.

Dollars: Primitive unit of exchange in use B.S., ((Before Socialism)).

Money: Nothing but the product of a printing machine. Let's get rid of it—give it away or something.

Banks: Nothing but places to keep money in. So after we got rid of the money—what good are banks?

Bankers: Nasty men who lend people money so they can go in business and perhaps become independent. Independent people are awfully hard to convert. Better they should live off the state.

Private Enterprise: Just another name for capitalism. Don't let it fool you.

Capitalism: Just another name for private enterprise. Don't let it fool you.

Depression: The bloated capitalists did it on purpose.

Good Times: The bloated capitalists couldn't prevent them.

Voters: A necessary evil in winning elections under the outmoded grasping capitalist system.

The Masses: See above.

Election promises: See above, and don't be silly.

Campaign funds: Very evil. We can't seem to collect many.

Political Economy: The most votes for the least money.

Socialism: Them as hasn't should have. Them as has, shouldn't have. Or, let's play musical chairs . . . but we'll run the music and let somebody else pay the piper.

Communism: The face is familiar, but we seem to have forgotten the name.

Big Business: A bad thing. Em-ploya hundreds and hundreds of people who would be better off attending indignation meetings and getting their checks from the state.

Little Business: We-e-e-e-e, not so bad . . . but let's stamp it out because when a little business is successful it sometimes becomes big business, and that's just awful, isn't it?

Profit Motive: The disgusting influence which provided the incentive to build this country.

Distribution of Wealth: Take it from the "haves" and give it to the "have-nots" so that the "have-nots" become "haves" and we can start all over again.

Wages: Not enough.

Work: Too much.

Reactionary: A person who sees any particle of good in things the way they are.

Progressive: A person who knows that nothing is worth a hoot the way it is.

Monopoly: Control of an industry by a single group. A very bad thing.

State Ownership: Control of an industry by a single group. A very good thing.

Social Security: Much better than working for a living.

Natural Resources: They're ours—so why not sit back and let them support us in the style to which we wish to become accustomed?

National Income: Carve it up boys, and let's have a whooperoo of a party, while it lasts.

Far-sighted: State of thinking "we're in a mess now—but there'll come a day."

Experts: No good. They just involve us in capitalistic wars.

Imports: No good. We have to pay for them which is obviously unfair.

Government: From the v.t. to govern meaning to regulate, restrain, control. Try us out, and we'll show you what we mean.

Revolution: Comes the revolution, you'll eat strawberries and cream!

Freedom: An inefficient luxury.

Fifth Freedom: Freedom from work.

Totalitarian: Don't rush us—we'll show you first and explain later.

Ignorance: On part of voter is bliss for us.

Propaganda: Anything the opposition says.

Profound Truth: Anything we say. Enlightenment: You'll be enlightened or bust. Or both.

Free Enterprise: This might be O.K., if we could just figure out how to keep it under rigid control. Taxation: So you think you're being taxed now, eh Hah.

Balanced Economy: All pay and no work.

Vote: Why, sure, everybody can vote just as he pleases, so long as he pleases to vote for us.

Health is wealth, but some how or another the rosy blush of health isn't always accepted as collateral for a loan.

If there are no profane words in the Japanese language we wonder how one Jap can describe what happened in the war to another one.

Playing safe with TEXTILES

The supply of textiles is not adequate to the demand. For six years, most of the world output has gone to war. Victory has not improved the situation. There will not be enough textiles in Canada for many months to come.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE REASONS

Canada depends largely on other sources for raw materials and for some yarns and fabrics.

A serious manpower shortage still confronts the textile industry of all Allied countries.

Shortages overseas must be met. It will take months before production is resumed in Europe.

Substantial quantities of all kinds of textiles are still required by occupational forces.

Domestic demand for textiles increased sharply during the war. It is still going up.

Civilian clothing needs of returning servicemen and women are swelling the demand here at home.

CONSERVATION IS THE KEYNOTE

This year, production directives have again been issued to the textiles industry.

They are intended to divert output to more essential goods.

But directives alone cannot cure a situation arising from world conditions.

The answer lies in conservation. More than ever, the need is to conserve, to take care of what there is, to mend, make-over and make-do.

CONSERVE AND PLAY SAFE WITH TEXTILES

TO PROVIDE CANADIAN WOMEN with guidance and practical assistance in maintaining the family wardrobe, the Board has prepared a series of advertisements, to assist Canadian women. Each subsequent advertisement will illustrate tested ways of styling new and fashionable clothing from outgrown and outmoded garments. For valuable hints on style, economy and CONSERVATION, watch these columns.

JANZEN—WIEBE
The wedding took place in the Mennonite Brethren Church at Vineland, on Saturday afternoon, when Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wiebe, became the bride of Mr. Siegfried Janzen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Janzen, Grimsby.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a white lace gown and full-length veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. The church was simply decorated with tall bouquets of gladioli.

Following a sermon and short addresses by Rev. Henry Wiebe and Rev. Henry Penner, the ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Peter Goertzen, of Beamsville. Mr. Cornelius Rempel, of Kitchener, sang.

Lunch was served to the guests in the church reception hall, where the tables were decorated with summer flowers and pink and white streamers. Mr. Janzen will be leaving shortly for Akron, Pa., headquarters of the Mennonite central committee, where he will be prepared to enter relief service in Holland.

Eastern Star

W. Lambert, P.W.G.P., after which Sister Muriel Anderson, W.M. and Bro. Herb. Betzner, W.F.M., presided in the East for the balance of the meeting.

We had as our guests Bethlehem Chapter, of Kenmore, N.Y., with Sister Florence Mould, W.M. and Bro. H. Mould W.P., accompanied by sixty members. Other guests were Sister Margaret Gretton, Grand Ruth and Sister Lillian Gill, D.D.G.M., as well as many past officers and members of various chapters. Two new members were initiated into the chapter. After the meeting a very successful penny sale in aid of the Patriotic committee was held, Sister Belle Wilson and her committee then served refreshments.

Family Reunion

On Sunday, a family dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. McIntyre, John Street, when Mrs. V. Luey, Mr. Bart Smith and Mr. Arthur Smith, both of Cleveland, brothers of Mrs. Luey, and their families gathered for the first time in eleven years. About twenty-six attended.

On Sunday afternoon, four sets of twins, all nieces and nephews, attended. They were Mrs. Frank Book, St. Catharines and Mrs. A. LePage of Grimsby, twin daughters of Arthur Smith; Lyle and Leslie Luey, twin sons of Mrs. V. Luey; Jimmy and Johnny Book, twin sons of Mrs. Frank Book; and Johnny and Harvey McIntyre, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McIntyre, Grimsby. Charles Jackson's entertainers of Hamilton provided the programme with the following artists: Lou Rayne, Montana Mickey, James Parker, Dick McDermot, Charles Jackson, George Woods; also a vocal duet by Phyllis Fowler and Reita Thomas, Tapleystown. Mr. Mal. Lang was chairman. Games of all kinds were much enjoyed.

One must have plenty of book knowledge in handling ration books.

Jackson Family Hold Reunion

A successful family reunion was held on Labour Day when nearly 100 members of the Jackson family met at Victoria Park Niagara Falls to renew the biennial gatherings which had been cancelled during the war. Guests were present from Amherstburg, London, St. Thomas, Hamilton, Brantford, and Grimsby, Albion and Medina, N.Y., and Niantic, Connecticut. Telegrams and letters of greetings were received from relatives in Calgary and Red Deer, Alta. and Minnesota, U.S. and other places.

The President, Mr. W. J. Robb, of St. Thomas welcomed the guests. Tribute was paid to those in the armed forces and to those who had passed away since the last reunion as the secretary, Mrs. L. A. Bromley of Grimsby, read the names of 5 deceased and of the more than 35 relatives who had served their country, one paying the supreme sacrifice. They had served in every branch of the services from Veteran's Guard to the navy, army and air force, some in the American army and navy; and they had served in nearly every battle area from Alaska to the South Pacific, from Italy to Germany—a record of which any family could well be proud. On suggestion of Prof. V. W. Jackson of Grimsby it was decided to have a book prepared from the records compiled by the secretary and himself.

The following officers were elected: President—Prof. V. W. Jackson, Grimsby; 1st Vice-President—Miss Marjorie Wilson, Hamilton; 2nd Vice-President—Mr. W. B. Jackson, Brantford; Secretary—Mrs. L. A. Bromley, Grimsby; Treasurer—Mr. A. E. Coleman, Toronto; Refreshment Convener—Mrs. John Hardie, Brantford.

The prize for the oldest man present went to Mr. W. J. Robb, St. Thomas and for the oldest woman present to Mrs. Allan Eaton, Carleton Place; for the youngest child to John Scott Trotter Morris, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Morris Amherstburg; and for the one who came the greatest distance to Miss Bertha Jackson from Niantic, Connecticut. A splendid programme of sports conducted by Mr. James Jackson, Hamilton brought the afternoon to a close. The next reunion will be held on Labour Day, 1947, in Mohawk Park, Brantford.

BISHOP OF THE ARCTIC

Miss Dorothy Brooks, R.N., sister and is not expected to return till next spring.

and carpentry work will be finished in a few weeks and that laying of tile and linoleum can be finished by the end of the month, which would indicate the hospital being ready early in October.
The hospital will have an initial capacity of 20 beds and eight nur-services for a 40 Bed Hospital.

Plans have been prepared to provide an additional 10 beds on the second floor, by raising the roof

the same as was done on the south side. These plans are being sub-hoped to have the roof work at least done this fall.

GREW SUGAR CANE

The late C. W. Wellington resided in Grimsby and then in Beams-ville for quite some years. He was known by the nickname of "Duke."
His home in Grimsby was the property known as the Flett home on Main street west, opposite St. Andrew's cemetery. The English church farm referred to was all that land between St. Andrew's avenue and Cypress Hollow, between Main street and the lake. All the homes on the west side of St.
Andrew's, Kidd, Bolton and Livingston within those boundaries are on the old church farm as is the Canadian Canner's ((Corey's) factory.

The little home, remodelled, on St. Andrew's avenue now occupied by George Hildreth was the old farm house.

NO ONE TO BLAME

When these pupils left school last spring on the understanding that they were to work for 13 weeks on a farm they were given a certificate that had to be filled out and signed by the farmer showing that they had worked on a farm for the allotted period of time. "These certificates had to be returned to the Ontario Department of Education before the pupils examination papers were passed upon.

A large majority of these certificates have not been returned to the Department, therefore the examination papers have not been completed and the pupils concerned advanced to another grade.

The Independent understands that a large proportion of those pupils never worked or even attempted to work on a farm but simply used this method to get away from school previous to the regulation closing of the school term.

TAXES WERE EASY

In 1887 Jesse D. Lawrence, father of Mrs. A. F. Hawke, was tax collector in North Grimsby township. He collected from Jasper Smith the huge total of $5.96, taxes on his fine fruit farm. The assessment was $6.42. On the adjoining farm owned by Samuel Jones, the assessment was $1,350 and the taxes $12.54.

Councillor Wm. Mitchell now owns the Jasper Smith farm. In 1939 his taxes were $125. In 1944 they were $80. Both figures are miles away from the $5.96 of 1887.

County Rate in 1887 was 5 mills;
township rate 2.1; High school rate
7-10's of a mill; Public school rate 2.9 mills. Compare them with your mill rates for 1945.

Another comparison in prices is to be found in an old statement rendered to the late E. J. Woolverton, father of Harold Woolverton, by the late Jas. A. Livingston,
"Publisher of The Weekly Independent." This account was for "100 half sheet posters, $2.50." Half-sheet posters today are $8.50 for 100 with Sales Tax of eight per cent extra, or a total cost of $9.14. Some difference.

Organized under Ontario Chart-

Oil in 1909 took out a Dominion Charter and expanded into the Quebec area. Through purchase of the Winnipeg Oil Company in 1920 the Company entered the Prairie Provinces, and, in 1934, started to move into B.C., consolidating its position as far westward as the East Kootenays and Okanagan Valley before wartime controls put a stop to further expansion. The Company had entered the Maritimes in 1935 and only the war interfered with the further expansion and rapid growth of the Com-

British American is a completely integrated Company owning its opened in the fall of 1943 for the manufacture of aviation gasoline and lubricating oils, is regarded as the most modern and completely integrated lubricating oil refinery in the Dominion.

Poultry Breeders
Pay Attention

The Coal Dealers Office, Ottawa, has advised that reserve stock piles are lower than ever before and transportation and labour problems are adding to the difficulties.
The coal controller has advised that everything possible be done to acquaint poultry raisers with the urgency of filling in Brooder Stove Coal application forms and placing their orders immediately with their local coal dealer and taking delivery as soon as this coal is available.

Unless this is done, many poultrymen may find themselves unable to secure proper coal if they wait until next spring to place their order.
Application forms may be made out in triplicate and presented to the local coal dealer and are available at the County Agricultural Office and may be secured by applying to the local Agricultural Representative.

All poultrymen reading this notice and make note of this matter should advise others in the district in order that this serious situation may be handled to the best advantage.

Pioneer Symbol

The axe is the symbol of pioneering. The first settlers landing in North America were met with the task of clearing the land, building log cabins, fashioning crude furniture and literally hewing homes for themselves out of the virgin forest. They used the axes with straight cutting edges and straight helms or handles that are still used in many parts of Europe.
Following the pioneers, and largely recruited from their ranks, came the lumbermen and later the pulpwood operators, and the axe changed its form to meet each new requirement. The woodman's axe is probably the most universally useful of all the tools that man has adapted to his need down through the ages. It takes the place of a whole chest of carpenter's tools.
With it an expert can do almost anything with wood from felling a tree to sharpening a pencil.

More axes were produced in Canada in 1943 than in any other year for which statistics are available, the total in that year having been 787,000 as compared with 403,000 in 1939, 562,000 in 1930 and 672,000 in 1920.

It Costs Money To Win Victory

We Must Pay The Fiddler So Let's Get Ready For Next Loan On October 22nd.

Canada's Ninth Victory Loan will open on October 22nd and will be the biggest ever floated in this country, the Honorable J. L. Isley announced last week. The Loan will cover Canada's borrowing needs for the next twelve months, the Minister of Finance explained, making it unnecessary to have another campaign next spring.

"One large Loan now instead of two smaller Loans, now and another in the Spring of 1946, means a real saving of time, effort and expense," he said. "It is possible to aim for a full year's needs in one Loan because Canada's borrowing requirements over the next twelve months will not be as large as they have been in recent years."

"Victory has been won in Europe and in the Pacific. The end of hostilities means the end of many war costs. But, we now face new tasks. And, these new tasks bring new needs. So, total outlays and borrowing requirements will continue at high levels."

The ninth Victory Loan will be Canada's greatest Loan.

Double Boiler Is Both Oven And Stew Pan

There once was a sharp dividing line between the American business woman and the American housewife, and perhaps even a little antagonism. "If I ran my business the way she runs her house—" on the one side, and "Away all day leaving everything to servants—" on the other. During the past few years that dividing line has dwindled until it is now practically non-existent, and the erstwhile housewife militant fills a job and fills it creditably, while the career woman runs a home to be proud of. "If you have two jobs one of them must suffer" has been proved untrue.

Housewives have been smart; smart enough to borrow and adapt many of the efficiency methods that business paid so much to learn. And in line with this policy the housewife has learned to keep her kitchen cool, or relatively cool. She has learned not to heat a large unit when a small one will do, and in learning she cast about until she found the best possible medium, the double boiler.

There is nothing new about the double boiler. It has always been found in every reasonably well-equipped kitchen, but its uses were limited more or less to the cooking of cereals, custards, and the like. Then an enterprising cook discovered that it could pinch hit for an asparagus steamer, and someone else discovered that it had double action—eggs or potatoes or baby beets could be simmering in the bottom section while oatmeal or stew or string beans steamed on top.

It was probably the "light-housekeeper" who first discovered that a meat loaf could be "baked" in a steamer. And not only will the meat loaf be as tender and tasty cooked in this fashion, but it will shrink far less than the baked version. Just make a meat loaf according to your favorite recipe, incorporating a raw egg in it if possible, pack into a very well-greased boiler top, put over bottom unit containing boiling water, cover, and steam until done. Unmold and slice. If a crusty outside is desired, the finished loaf (it won't be a loaf shape really, but a round-mold shape) can be brushed with melted fat and run under the broiler for a minute or two. And that little bit of time wouldn't heat even a small kitchen, would it? And the saving of gas would be appreciable, especially since new potatoes or onions could be boiling in the bottom section at the same time.

The peaceful era was the time the only pictures on the front page was that of the quintuplets.

Your Support IS VITAL TO RATIONING Mr. and Mrs. Farmer

With other groups, you play a part so that everyone gets a fair share.

The FARMER

Under the rationing regulations, you are asked to collect and turn in the coupons you acquire against the use and sale of butter and the coupons you get introduced again, of meat, and the coupons you get from the sale of honey and rationed maple products. So that you may buy other meats from your butcher, no more than one-half of the valid coupons in your ration book and in those of your household need be surrendered. To make it easy to send in coupons, you are provided with RB-61 envelopes which should be forwarded once a month to your Local Ration Board. No postage is required.

The RETAILER

The retailer also plays a part. He must obtain coupons or other valid ration documents against every sale he makes of rationed foods—butter, sugar, preserves and, when meat rationing becomes effective again, meat. Otherwise, he cannot replenish his stocks. He must paste all coupons on gummed sheets and endorse each sheet with his name and address. If his monthly food sales total $2,500 or more, he is required to operate a ration coupon bank account. He must also give valid ration documents or a ration cheque to his supplier for every purchase he makes of a rationed food.

The HOUSEWIFE

The housewife, too, has rationing work to do. She must know the validity and expiry dates of butter, sugar, preserves and, later, meat coupons so that she can make supplies of these foods last. She must know the coupon values of all rationed preserves and meats. She has to understand the sugar alternative of the preserves coupon in order to do as much home canning as possible and still have coupons for honey, syrups and other preserves. She must guard family ration books carefully and give up coupons for every purchase she makes of a rationed food.

RATIONING is your assurance of a fair share. It is a protection against waste... shortage... inflation.

That is why farmers are asked to continue to collect and turn in coupons to their Local Ration Boards - once a month - in the RB-61 envelope.

After her marriage in 1925, they were pioneers in the new village of Langley Prairie, B.C., which has now become a thriving town. Being a Senior graduate in music, Mrs. Beadle was the town's first and only music teacher for several years. She helped generously with her musical talents, also as a soprano soloist in church and social affairs. She was the promoter of a travelling library in the town, and later a Public Library, besides being interested in various community affairs and improvements.

Mrs. Beadle was of a cheerful, kindly, generous disposition, being a very devoted and loving Christian wife and mother, educating and instilling the noblest principles in their fine intellectual family.

She was a member of the United Church, and took a very active interest in the various S.S. and church organizations, having very recently entertained the ladies of the church at her home to a garden party held yearly on their spacious lawn with its magnificent rock gardens.

The funeral service was held at Langley United Church on Tuesday, August 28th. The large gathering in attendance and the many floral tributes showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held in her town and community.

The flowers included wreaths from the husband and family, the brothers and Aunt in Ontario, Langley greenhouse employees, church choir and organizations, as well as sprays from friends, neighbours and music pupils.

Interment was made in Langley Prairie Cemetery.

Holiday Weekend Traffic Is Heavy

The heaviest week-end traffic since 1941 rolled through Grimsby and district highways as thousands took advantage of the Labor Day holiday week-end, the first holiday since the removal of gas rationing and the last major international holiday of the summer season.

Police said that the traffic was the greatest since early in the war, and it might be a record for the Queen Elizabeth Way which was just completed at the outbreak of hostilities. Service stations reported a rush of business unparalleled in years, but the only unpleasant note was the tire situation. Many motorists fell by the wayside for repairs.

Local restaurants were flooded with an overcapacity of business and report the influx of American tourists as being very heavy.

Boy Scouts

Chosen by Scoutmaster Baker to represent Grimsby troop, Don McAlonen has spent a week at the Blue Springs Scout Camp at Guelph.

To wind-up the camp activities, a grand concert was held, and at the conclusion of the concert, Don was called to the platform and a lengthy citation was read, after which Don was presented with the "screwball medal".

In the painting of the county courthouse, the front doors present a much handsomer appearance, the large knobs of wood being removed. Some of them have been given away as souvenirs of wood used about a century ago, and they make good paper weights. It is believed the judges' throne desks and the other furnishings of the big courtroom are among the finest examples of walnut in this country and today seem just as good as the day they were put there. Those who know, say it would probably be impossible to replace the furniture.
